Employment history:

September 2008 - Current

During this time frame I've been doing contract web development, developing Javascript features and doing some PHP programming.

I've worked with several popular PHP e-commerce and CMS platforms during this time, including Drupal, concrete5, Wordpress, and osCommerce.

Solid Cactus

Shavertown, PA... (888) 361-9814

Initially hired for Yahoo store programming.

One of the two original programmers on the Platinum team, a two programmer group responsible for high-end clients.

Worked with the Software as a Service team to help launch Cactus on Demand, Solid Cactus' Java/MyFaces order management system.

After the launch, moved back to Store Development to the Custom Programming team.

Although it was never part of my official position at Cactus, I often acted as a Technical Lead, investigating programming possibilities and helping other programmers when they got stuck.

An example of the paging feature that I wrote while doing contract work. The feature allows for sorting and filtering of products on the page. It uses the existing product data on the page, reading and parsing the name and price information, and re-organizing the existing table cells instead of re-writing the DOM from scratch. This means that the information is already there for search spiders to find.
